GENTLEMEN—We, the undersigned, colored citizens of Richmond, finding correlves surrounded by circumstances both novel and embarrassings, and being desirous of acting only in a manner becoming respectable and loyal citizens of Richmond, Virginia, and the Union, take the liberty of asking that you will convey to us, through the medium of an address, at such time and place as may be most convenient to you, that salutary and impartial advice, which we so much need and which your past career and present standing so well enable you to give.

Hoping to receive a favorable anawer, we remain most truly and respectfully.

In response to this note the gentlemen invited addressed a large meeting of their colored fellow-citizens at the theatre on Mondsy night. This is rational and practical advice. The giving of it shows a most hopeful awakening of the "reconstructed" mind, and Union men throughout the conntry ought to encourage the disposition it evinces to forget not only all rebellious preference, but actually all prejudice of caste. Reasonable men can ask no more, and the people of the loyal States will ask no more. When the whites and blacks of the South thus act together in consultation and co-operation for the common good, the legitimate ends of the Reconstruction bill will be accomplished. Br. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup.

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. Schenck, the Propietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced the use of this starple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the systoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred, pounds.

Since had been supported by the cure of Consumption and the diseases which are usually compiled and the diseases which are usually compiled the diseases which are usually compiled the diseases which are usually compiled to the diseases which are usually compiled the diseases which are usually compiled to the diseases which are larger cities weekly, where he has a lirige concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carnages, and in a few months, health, robust persons. Dr. SCHENICK, of and MANDRAKE PILIS are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one cartake them without seeing Dr. Schenck, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. He gives advice free but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer his fee is three dollars.
